NEW YORK HERALD.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 8.—(Walter P. Brown of Toledo) appears to be the probable winner of the race for the Ohio Republican nomination to be held at next Tuesday's primary election. Reports received from almost every section of the State and estimates made by seasoned leaders following the close of the campaign last night indicate that the victor will materially outdistance that of his opponents, Frank B. Willis of Ada, one time Governor, and Judge R. M. Wamaker of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The Ohio Republican Senatorial contest is attracting national attention, because of its importance in the fight to restore Ohio to the Republican column. It has been in progress since the close of the Chicago convention, when Warren G. Harding's nomination for the Presidency eliminated him as a candidate for the Senate. The Ohio Republican Senatorial contest is receiving far more consideration than the campaign for the gubernatorial nomination, which is being fought by Harry A. Davis, once Mayor of Cleveland, Representative Roscoe C. McColloch of Canton, and Ralph D. Cole of Findlay, one time member of Congress. This fight is too close to forecast any outcome.

Mr. Brown's nomination, Republican supporters agree, would be of material aid to the national ticket in November. Harding's nomination, since it would provide for the voters direct evidence of a reunited Ohio Republicanism, a condition which exists today for the first time in virtually any State. Brown is accepted as one of the most potent of the Ohio Republicans, and was the Progressive leader in Ohio when Theodore Roosevelt ran for President in 1912. Brown and Roosevelt were close friends. His presence on the State ticket, Republican leaders insist, would do more to convince the electorate that liberal conservatism is the Republican ideal, as typified by Senator Harding, who remained a regular Republican during the days of the Progressive party, and by Brown, the leading spirit of the Bull Moose organization. The Progressive strength in Ohio is evidenced by the fact that Roosevelt polled 240,000 Buckeye votes in 1912. Mr. Brown, who is a lawyer and who never sought public office before, appeared in the Senatorial race when it became apparent that Senator Harding had a chance to win the Presidential nomination in Chicago. The Republican leaders in Ohio, seeking to prove that the staunch party followers and those who trailed with "Teddy" had met again on common ground, cast about for a suitable candidate. They settled on Brown, intending to keep the field clear for him so that he might win without a contest.

Things looked so good, however, for a Republican victory in November that Frank B. Willis, very much against the advice of those who believed Mr. Brown should be the nominee without a contest, decided to enter the race himself. He felt that the tide of Republican sentiment would be a factor in sweeping him into the Senatorship. Willis, of course, possesses elements of strength, and while he does not have the winning qualifications of Brown, is not to be classed as a weakling. He is a splendid orator, and his speech placing Senator Harding in nomination is hailed as one of the brightest spots of the Chicago convention. His record as a one time member of Congress and as Governor of Ohio is good. He is a leader of the drys, and as such is strong in the small town and rural sections of the State. Willis to the Republican party in Ohio is a William J. Bryan all over again. He even has some physical characteristics that resemble those of Bryan.

Gov. Cox defeated Willis twice in the race for the Governorship, in 1916 and in 1918. Willis beat Cox once, in the off year election of 1914, when, fresh out of Congress and in the face of a Woodrow Wilson landslide two years before, he made a spectacular campaign. The real race for the Senatorial nomination appears to be between Brown and Willis, although Judge Wamaker is apt to poll a large vote, particularly in labor centers. Wamaker, who supported Leonard Wood in the Presidential primary campaign last spring, is intensely radical, his stand on some questions bordering on socialism. His public record is chiefly his conduct as a Judge on the bench of the Supreme Court of Ohio, where he has won some notice for speedy decisions and opinions favorable also to labor. Wamaker insists, further, that he has considerable strength in the rural districts, but it is a matter of grave doubt if he is as strong there as either Brown or Willis. The situation became fairly well mud-

TENNESSEE'S SUFF
BATTLE UNCERTAINEach Side Professes Confidence on Eve of Legislature's Special Session.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—The Tennessee Legislature will meet in extraordinary session to-morrow at noon to consider ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment.

With thirty-five States already having acted favorably and with ratification by only one more State necessary for woman suffrage to become effective throughout the nation, suffrage and anti-suffrage workers from all parts of the country were here to-night prepared for what is considered as probably the most important contest a General Assembly has faced since Congress submitted suffrage ratification to the States. Indications to-night were that plans of leaders to begin consideration of ratification at the first day's session probably would not materialize. It was doubted whether it would be possible to have a quorum in attendance to-morrow and adjournment until Tuesday was expected.

Republican members will caucus to-morrow morning to determine their course and it was said their action would have an important bearing, inasmuch as the party is represented in the Senate by seven members and in the House by thirty-four. Each Republican has received from Chairman Hays of the Republican National Committee a message urging him to support ratification. In many quarters there was a disposition to regard the outcome as uncertain at this time. Suffrage leaders pointed out that the Legislature in regular session last year granted Presidential and municipal suffrage to the women of the State by a bare constitutional majority in the Senate and a majority of five in the House. Three members of the Senate and ten members of the House were elected last week to fill vacancies, and the suffragists declared that of the thirteen they had eleven pledged.

Opponents of woman suffrage in any form and those who oppose suffrage by Federal legislation, but favor it by State action, have combined forces and were confident that there were enough members of similar views in each house to defeat ratification. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, is directing the campaign and for the first time, it is said, she has established headquarters on the battle field. Other prominent suffrage leaders here include Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio, vice-chairman of the National Republican Executive Committee, and Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles of Wilmington, Del., who was conspicuous in the suffrage contest in the Delaware Legislature. Virtually every Southern State and many States in the East are represented in the forces opposed to ratification. They include Miss Mary G. Kilbreath of New York, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman's Suffrage.

THE UNITED STATES OFFERS FOR SALE BY SEALED BIDS

A COMPLETE CITY—"OLD HICKORY"

An area of 4,706 acres, 1,800 acres exclusively used for manufacturing with 1,112 buildings ready to operate—560 acres adjacent to works with 3,867 various types of homes, social and civic buildings. Navigable Cumberland River on three sides of plant. Convenient to three railroads: Louisville and Nashville; Chattanooga and St. Louis; Tennessee Central Railroads. Within 100 miles of 3 apparently inexhaustible coal fields in Kentucky and Tennessee. LARGEST STEAM POWER PLANT IN THE WORLD with proportionate engine horse power. Direct handling of raw materials by 94 miles of plant railways, standard and narrow gauge, with a reclassification yard of 660 cars. Macadam and concrete roads for heavy hauling. Water for every purpose supplied by pumping station with capacity of 100,000,000 gallons. A volume of refrigerating effect equal to 3,000,000 pounds of ice a day. Electrically-driven and controlled coal handling equipment, including belt conveyors, crushers and silos, capable of handling 73 45-ton cars a day. 100,000 ton storage yard served by two locomotive cranes. Plant maintenance handled through central mechanical area of thoroughly equipped repair shops, embracing every trade and including a foundry with a 33-ton cupola. A modern equipped chemical and experimental laboratory.

Maximum production is possible even with units converted to your individual uses, because all operations follow an aggressive sequence. All homes and buildings on the reservation are supplied with light, water and power from a common source of supply.

The sale of "Old Hickory" is of tremendous importance to EVERY manufacturer, regardless of the character of his product. It represents more than a mere sale of equipment and surplus property—bigger than any mere plant—without question the MOST GIANTIC INDUSTRIAL SALE EVER OFFERED THE MANUFACTURING PUBLIC by the United States Government.

During the World War "Old Hickory" was the largest smokeless powder producing plant IN THE WORLD. In addition to the enormous equipment and extraordinary production capacity, it offers an incomparable opportunity for the purchase of a COMPLETE, MODERN INDUSTRIAL COMMUNITY.

STEAM of 60,000 h.p., is generated by 48 B. & W. built POWER. Sterling type boilers. The boilers are rated at 823 h.p., with an actual development of 1,250 h.p., each at a working pressure of 175 lbs. Seventeen 16-inch mains all on overhead trestles, carry steam to all parts of the plant.

ELECTRIC sufficient in volume for all plant and village uses POWER is generated by 5 turbo-generators of 11,500 k.w., total capacity at 2,300 v., which can be stepped up to 6,600 v.

ENGINE is more than sufficient to operate the various machinery of the plant and is developed by 47 heavy duty Corliss Engines of 350 h.p. each. These engines are in various parts of the plant, in excellent condition and ready to function in any capacity as prime-mover or source of power.

COAL operations are conducted efficiently, economically and with a minimum use of labor by an electrically-driven and controlled system of belt conveyors of 300 t.p.h. capacity, which convey the coal from the trucks to the coal storage, or distributed directly to the boiler bunkers. Two large locomotive cranes are available for the storage of coal. This equipment is capable of handling seventy-three 45-ton cars every 24 hours, but has never been taxed to its full capacity.

WATER for use throughout the plant and village is available in sufficient quantities to meet every requirement and has a volume great enough to supply a city the size of BOSTON. Water is pumped from the Cumberland River by 10 pumps and these are connected with a booster system having a capacity of 37,500 g.p.m., against a 130-foot head. All water, excepting that used for cooling and condensing the Acid Area is FILTERED AND PURIFIED AND CONSTANTLY TESTED IN THE PLANT LABORATORY. The filtering equipment includes 96 FILTER TUBS WITH A 24-HOUR CAPACITY OF 63,000,000 GALLONS.

REFRIGERATION. A mammoth, highly efficient refrigeration unit is ready for operation. It consists of thirteen 250-ton units with all auxiliary equipment. The total refrigeration effect is 3,250 tons. In conjunction with this is an ice plant of six hundred 300-pound cans with complete equipment for handling and storing the ice. The CAPACITY OF THIS PLANT IS GREAT ENOUGH TO MEET THE ICE REQUIREMENTS OF A CITY AS LARGE AS THE ENTIRE RESERVATION.

PLANT The several units of the plant are: Cotton Purification, Nitration, Filtration, Power, Refrigeration, Causticizing, Sulphuric Acid, Diphenylamine, Box Factory, Storage Tanks, "Shook" Storage Houses, Round House, Garages, Laboratory, and a Machine Shop sufficiently equipped to take care of the needs of the several units.

Some conception of the magnitude of this project may be had by considering the fact that there are 1,021 completed and equipped buildings on the property and that the "Old Hickory" village, at Jacksonville, 15 miles from Nashville, Tenn., is practically a township with habitable and attractive housing facilities to accommodate 20,000 people and afford them all the conveniences and home-loving features of up-to-date city life at MODERATE EXPENSE. Rents are reasonable at "Old Hickory." Nearly all the necessities of life can be purchased in the business center of the village. The design and construction of the houses, the very life and atmosphere of the village are conducive to PERMANENT labor, and satisfy the demands of the highest class of American skilled workmen. An ample supply of common labor is available in this territory.

No manufacturer can be too big for "Old Hickory," yet this plant is so elastic that its individual units, or the plant in its entirety, can be modified and made profitable for MANY VARIED INDUSTRIES, having no connection with the manufacture of smokeless powder. Another point, too important to be ignored, is the vast collection of MARKETABLE surplus property on the grounds. This property is of a character that can now be disposed of at top prices.

The Government prefers to sell "Old Hickory" as an ENTIRE unit. It is suggested that if you wish to use only an individual unit that you wire or write your preferences and permit the Government to put you in touch with other buyers, similarly disposed, and so assist in the formation of a group which can take immediate possession of the entire plant.

Arrange NOW to have your engineer make a careful inspection of the entire plant and submit your proposition to the Government.

Opportunity never knocked harder at your door, and never called so completely prepared to satisfy your every requirement.

Write or wire to the Chairman at the address below—NOW!

TOWN. Adjacent to the works is the town, covering an area of 560 acres upon which are 3,867 buildings of various types from 6-room bungalows to 6 family apartments, hotels, restaurants, civic centers, two Y.M.C.A.s, a Y.W.C.A., stores, a completely equipped fire and police department with the latest signal devices, hospital, court-house, theatre, schools and other buildings common to the average community. Every feature conducive to permanent labor is within the limits of the village. The homes are a splendid state of preservation, ready for immediate habitation and have every modern convenience such as electric cooking plates and bathrooms.

VARIED INDUSTRIES WHICH CAN USE THIS PLANT.

Paper Mills, Sugar Refinery, Coking and Coke By-Products, Food, brated Products and concentrated; Iron and Steel foundries; Fibre products such as Asphaltum Shingles; Aluminum; Wood Box or Refrigeration Manufacture; Cellulose and Photographic Film Manufacture, and a number of other minor industries, such as Cold Storage and Ice Manufacture.

When the armistice was signed "Old Hickory" was just getting its stride. The vast CAPACITY OF THE PLANT HAS NEVER BEEN FULLY UTILIZED. ITS GIANT POSSIBILITIES ARE NOW READY TO BE RELEASED BY THE GENIUS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

UNPRECEDENTED Through the sale of "Old Hickory," the OPPORTUNITY FOR Government offers an unprecedented opportunity to the American business public. Its ideal location, near Nashville, on the navigable Cumberland River, its proximity to three great coal fields; healthful climate, ample housing accommodations, completeness and excellence of the plant equipment; enormous potential production capacity of its various units—these are but a few of the many advantages to be considered.

Are excessive power costs, high wages, adverse labor and housing conditions CUTTING DOWN YOUR PROFITS? Do you lack room for expansion? A magnificent opportunity is offered you here to reach the peak of your business aspirations.

HOW "OLD HICKORY" The War Department recommends that prospective purchasers for A PART of the "Old Hickory" project associate themselves for the purpose of submitting a bid for the ENTIRE PROPERTY. Government agents will render every assistance in putting such prospective purchasers in touch with each other and in forming an association to facilitate bidding and the immediate acquisition of the property.

SEALED BIDS for the ENTIRE property will be received now and up to 10 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, September 2, 1920. Requests for information, proposals to purchase the property, permission to inspect and/or detailed information, should be addressed to the CHAIRMAN.
